Affairs in Buenes Ayres.

[From the Buston Advertiser, April 28]

We find in Busnos Ayres papers of the month of February, various accounts of attempts at negotiation between the authorities at Buenes Ayres and the Congress of the Argentine Confederation at Banta Fs. All these efforts had failed, not only to the date of these papers, but to the date of our latest advices from Buenes Ayres, which are to March 10. The Progresse of the 22d says that several effects of mediation had been made from the neighborning States, of which it speaks lightly, and it announces the arrival of a commission of five persons from the Congress the arrival of a commission of five persons from the Congress which passed the law of the 22d of February, authorizing Urquiza to put an end to civil war in the province. It inquires if sufficient impartiality can be expected from these members for so delicate a commission, and states that whatever may be offered by other powers, Buenes Ayres seeks only her liberty, and general security, and oblivion of her past errors.

The General Constituent Congress of the Argentine Confederation has accorded and decrees:—

Art. 1st.—The Provisional Director of the Confederation is authorized to employ all the means his prudence and exalted patriotism may suggest, to put an end to the civil war in the Province of Buenes Ayres, and to obtain its free assent to the national compact of the 31st May, 1862.

Art. 2d.—The resilization of the dispositions of the pre-

Art. 2d—The realization of the dispositions of the pre-seding article with the brevity and urgency demanded by the present situation of Buenos Ayres is recommended. Art. 3d—Let it be communicated to the Provisional Director with the note accorded. PEDRO FERRE, Second Vice President.

VILLADA, Deputy Secretary
The note appended referred to in this law is a document of some length, addressed to Gen. Urquira, the Provisional Director. It exhirts him to undertake the task of pacification, and expresses entire confidence in his wisdom and moderation. The following is an extract his wisdom and moderation. The following is an extraction his wisdom and moderation. The following is an extraction this address:—

In fine, your Excellency has shown that you respected the will of that community, and that when you might you did not choose to offer it violence, declaring at the head of a numerous army that you abandoned the Province of Buenos Ayres to its own fate. Endowed with such antecedents, to whom better than the person of your Excellency could the Coogress confide the mission of putting an end to the calamities of a sister portion of the misle but unfortunate Argentine family. To whom if not to him, who to the prestige of his name, adds the power of the nation?

unfortunate Argentine family? To whom if not to him, who to the prestige of his name, adds the power of the nation?

Your Excellency who re-cued the republic from an insupportable tyranny, will not hesitate to deliver it from the less fatal calsmity of intestine dissension. The star of your Excellency is too fortunate and brilliant not to guide you once more when you direct anew your sane intentions towards the now besieged city.

There most excellent sir. in the very streets which, on the 19th of February last, your Excellency saw populous and full of joy, there is now only to be seen citizens torn from their pacific occupations, to devote themselves, perhaps against their will, to those of the soldier. The military hospitals occupy the place of the manufactories. Hunger is suffered by the rich as well as by the indigent, and the city to which your Excellency restored the enjoyment of property, and peace with the world, has fallen anew under the barbarous law of confiscation, and the arms of the foreigner are the only guarantee for families and for their property.

In the rural districts all enterprises are suspended, the flocks without herdsmen, and the abundant crops of this year, instead of riches for the husbandman, present him with frustrated hopes and uscless expenses. One of the armed bands threatens its opponents with the barbarous apparatus of 2,000 savages, called to the Christian camp by the incitement of pinnder and booty, thus awakening in all the tribes of the desert the instinctive thirst of violence which characterises barbarians.

Before this picture, presented in faint colors, your Excellency will doubtless participate in the regrets entertained by the Congress-the Congress which would not hesitate in sacrificing itself to see the sister province restored to the blessings of tranquility and peace. This is the first necessity of the republic; the first necessity of Buenos Arve because in the absence of peace decorum is at an expense of the greates such as a spectacle of scandal and humilitatin as a speciacle of scandal and humiliating combacout foreigners.

The Congress wishes your Excellency the greatest succian the means you may deign to employ for the atlamment of these objects, for which you are authorized by the present law, and offers your Excellency its cooperation within the sphere of its attributes, and with the purest intentions.

God preserve your Excellency many years.

[From the Boston Traveller,]

A letter received in this city, dated Montevideo, March 12, 4P M, says that news had just been received there to the effect that the civil war had been brought to a close by a treaty of peace between the beligerent parties.

As previous accounts advised the appointment of a commissioner to make peace, the news is generally credited by those engaged in the trade in this city.

DEATS OF A CENTENNARIAN.—We take the following notice of the death and sketch of the Hie of a centennarian from the Augusta (Ga.) Sentined:— 'Died, in this county, on the 5th inst, a negro man. familiarly known as 'Oto JACOS,' whose great age, faithful service, and well known probity of character, render him well worthy of a passing notice. He was purchased by Mr. Thos. Walker, one of the earliest settlers of this county, in 1768, as the bill of sale declares, for £800, being then trenty years of age, making him at the time of his death one hundred and five years old. During the revolutionary war he was frequently taken from his owner by marauding parties of whige or tories, as one or the other happened to be in the accordant, and was eye witness to many of the scenes of that eventful period. He would narrate with considerable eloquence, the inglorious defeat at Efra Creek of the Americans under General Ashe. He served as cook to an officer, whose name, he said, was Williamson, in the British atmy, at the siege of Savannah. His in v riable practice was to reize the first opportunity of e ape and return to his master. His ideas of the merits o the glorious contest then going on, seem never to have been very well delined. for when asked which service he v riable practice was to seize the first opportunity of caps and return to his master. His ideas of the merits of the glorious contest then going on, seem never to have been very well delited, for when asked which service he preferred, whig or royalist, his reply was, "Wer'n't no difference—all rogues, sir, all rogues." Doubtless a correct come entary upon his individual experience. For many years before the death of Mr. Thomas Walker, he was but nominally a since, and at his death Major Abram Walker, whose property he became gave him entire freedom, which for forty sive years he has enjoyed in unintertuated health, and with every comfort with which those anxious to repey his fidelity could surround him. His death was the result of no positive disease, but apparently a mild and gradual dendence of his phylical powers."

Hon. JOHN TENNIT, of Methuen, Mass., died on the 9th inst., at the age of 54 years. He served in the Legislature in 1834, and several subsequent years. He was a Senator from Essex county, and a member of the inxecutive Council, besides discharging other public tracts.

In early life Mr. Wood bridge was connected in the mercantile business with the selebrated Herman Elemerhasset and was a principal witness retied upon by the United States in the prosecution of Asson Burr, on the charge of treason. During his examination, Mr. Woodbridge characteri ed his patters, Bleenerhasset, as a man who had "all kinds of sense but common sense," a character now universally conceded to the poor dups of Burr's ambitious schemes.

In Kingston on the 20th of March, after a brief and severe illness, General Eusemo Bonkero, aged 64 years. He was a native of the republic of New Granada, and one of the few remaining of the many devoted patriots who fought and bled to achieve his country's independence. He served the land of his birth long and faithfully, ever to maintain her honor, uphold her institutions, and secure her prosperity. secure her prosperity.

SUIGIDE OF A CAPTAIN OF A VESSEL.—Captain SUIGIDE OF A CAPTAIN OF A VESSEL.—Captain Wiles. Servelle, or the brig for al. of Thomaston, Me., was found to the attle of the City Hotel, Br) street yesterday morning, about the o dock, with his throat out. He had I cen laboring under derangement of mind for a day or two and had several times teen heard to threaten his existence, and every precastion had been adopted to guest against the execution of such a determination; but on the morning in question, while momentarily left by his attendant, he escaped from his room to the attic, and, before discovered, had out his throat with a knife, severing the jugular vein and windpipe, and was quite dead.—Saconnoh Georgiam, April 39.

BURIAL OF THE VICE PRESIDENT.—Golonel King was buried on the 20th April, at 11 o'clock, according to the rights of the Episcopal Church. The Rev. W. H. Platt, of Solma, officiated, whose sermon was eloquent and beautiful. The deceased lies among his kindred.

EXTENSIVE CONSPIRACY OF ROQUES—IMPORTANT NEWS FOR THE FORCE.—The Rev. E. Smith, of the Mansfeld (C.) Stateman, writing upon a very extensive brotherhood of thieres, which he thinks saids in every State of the Union, mys:—"We are aware of the existence of said society, by the confession of one of its members, who had too much conscience for such a brotherhood. He stated that they were banded together for robbery, theft, counterfeiting and murder, and to protect each other from the fangs of the law by being witnesses for each other, and getting on juries when they could. Beath, he said, was the penalty of any betrayal of their secrets or plans, or of any of the brotherhood, or of any infidelity to their secret obligations. He further states that this society is extended to every State in the Union—has branches and high officers in all the States; that its members were numerous and respectable, many of them cocupying important stations and having a wide influence. Some are members of churches, and church officers, and attend to the forms of religion, such as asking a blessing at the table and attending to family worship. To have secret, each bound and banded robbers, therees and murderers, mixed up with the community, and entering into our families and spying out all our precious things, and at the same time praying with us, and going to the sacred communion, is truly a horribbe state of society. But so it is, we know not the danger to which this alarm may expose us, but the community ought to be apprised of these things, and we have concluded to sound the alarm. A similar society was formed in Europe in 1777, by Weisaupt Zwack and Kniggee, which continued ten years, and was then broken up by the discovery of their papers in the hand-writing of Zwack. They had receipts for producing abortion, filling rooms with stupitying cdors, and divers like hellish things, and scores of counterfeit seals. EXTENSIVE CONSPIRACY OF ROGUES—IMPORTANT

AN OLD ROBBERY—THE THIEF DISGOVERED.—In the Boston police court, yezierday afternoon, John Greenough, known about town as a "camee cutter," was examined on a charge of stealing some $1,200 worth of watches and jewelry from the dwelling house of C. L. Drown, in Salem street, in Dec., 1850. This case has been, until quite recently, involved in mystery, as no traces of the property could be found, with the exception that about two years since a silver watch, known to be a part of the property, was traced to the possession of Greenough. Upon this fact becoming known, he abroaded, and has not been heard of since until last Monday, when he was arrested in Manchester, N. H., by officer Ham. Two others of the watches (gold) were traced through several hands to Horace D. Carley, of New York, who formerly kept a booker's shop in Sudbury street, in this city. Carley, was arrested at his place of business in Broadway, on a charge of larceny, and brought to Boston on Friday last. Up to the time of his arrival in this city Mr. Carley, whose reputation has never been questioned, did not know the purpose of his arreiv, or motive of the charges against him. Upon being presented to Deputy Eaton, on Saturday morning, and told the cause of his arreit, on Saturday morning, and told the cause of his arreit and detention, he immediately stated the names of the parties from whom he had bought the watches in the legitimate course of trade. Through these parties their pessession was traced directly to Mr. Greenough mas held in the sum of $2,500 for appearance at the Municipal Court. No charge whatever was made against Mr. Carley, and he is honorably acquitted.—Bacton Matt, April 23.

OLD MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE OF CONNECTION —Of the twenty-one members of the State Senate but five have ever before been in that body, viz.—Thomas B. Butler, Norwalk, in 1848 and 1852; Nathan G. Fish, Group, in 1851, 1852; James A. B.ll, Lyne, in 1852; Exra bean, Woedstock, in 1852; Ianiel B. Warner. East Hiddam, in 1852. These five, together with the Governor and Lieut. Governor, are explicite, members of the corporation of Yale College. The other Senator will be determined by lot. The senior member of the House of Representatives, or Father of the House, whose duty it is call that body to order, is supposed to be Kinney Gallux, of Veluntown, who was a member in 1827. The other senior members of the House are as they entered that body:—Obed Higley, Simsbury, in 1829; Roderick Grimes, Rocky Hill, in 1831; Jeffrey O. Phelps, Simsbury, in 1831; Slass Hoadley, Plymouth, in 1832; John C. Smith, Sharon, in 1833; David Patchen, Weston, in 1835; Selah Stong, Milford, in 1836.

Trial Of Leahey, The Mone, for Murder.—

TRIAL OF LEARLEY, THE MONK, FOR MURDER.—
The Portage City Republic contains a portion of the trial of Edward Lealey (better known as the Monk of La Trappe) for the murder, by shooting, of Bernard Manley, The trial is before Judge Larrabee. Leahey ploaded not guilty, to the indictment. Francis Whiting testided that he saw the prisoner fire three shots—one at the decased, which caused his death, and two at a man named Abram Morton. The pistol was a revolver, and two charges were left in it. Leahey stated to the witness that the murder was just, and that the Lord told him to do it. Manley lived about forty five minutes after the shot. The testimony, as far as it is published is conclusive as to the fact that Manley was shot by Leahey for alleged adultery with the wife of the latter.
